Your New Weekly Food and Garden Waste Service

Starting 6th of July and 7th of September 2009

Milton Keynes Council is introducing a free weekly combined food and garden waste collection this summer which will allow us to recycle more of your waste.

www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwaste

New Weekly Food and Garden Waste Scheme

Milton Keynes Council is introducing a new scheme across the borough which allows householders to mix both food scraps and garden waste in the same bin. This comes after five years of the popular garden waste scheme and four years of careful food and garden waste trials. This improvement is a free weekly service, collected along with your recycling and refuse on your normal day - and because of cost savings in the new refuse contract with Serco, is being delivered to council tax payers at no extra cost.

Milton Keynes has always been proud of its pioneering recycling status. In 1992 we introduced the first kerbside collection scheme in the UK. In 1993 we opened the first purpose built Materials Recycling Facility in the UK. This new scheme marks one of the biggest changes we've made since those early days and helps keep Milton Keynes at the forefront of recycling.

To help us make these changes in a manageable way the scheme is being phased in gradually. The first 58,000 properties should have already received their bins with collections due to start week commencing 6th of July.

If you haven't received a council leaflet through your door or a green bin, your property is probably in a later phase, but bins will be delivered throughout August with collections starting week commencing 7th of September.

If you live in an apartment, sheltered housing, property with a communal bin area, or an area with restricted access, you will be joining the scheme in the last phase from November onwards. We recognise that 'one size' does not fit all, and we will need to assess these properties to find the best collection method. Please be patient with us.

Your bin will be delivered at least seven days before the start of the collections. To find out when collections start in your area, visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwaste

To help with the introduction of the scheme and to ensure people's questions are answered fully, Milton Keynes Council has employed a team of 12 recycling advisers. From July onwards the advisors will be available to visit and discuss any issues you may have with the new scheme. Request a visit by filling in a web form at: www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwastecontact or by calling the environmental contact centre, details listed on the back page.

recycle for Milton Keynes

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

About your bins

Households currently with a garden waste bin

If you use the fortnightly garden waste collection and are in the second phase of the scheme starting in September. Please carry on putting your garden waste bin out for collection every two weeks in accordance with the calendar we delivered earlier this year. From the beginning of August we will be delivering kitchen caddies for your food waste. Enclosed in the caddy will be more information about what you can and can't recycle in the new scheme.

Important Information

If you are already using the garden waste service, but the new scheme does not start in your area until September. Please do not add food waste to your garden waste bin until the week commencing 7th of September. Unlike households who begin combined food and garden waste collections in July, your garden waste will continue to be composted 'open-air' on a farm until the start of the new scheme in your area. Legislation controlling the spread of animal disease means that food waste cannot be composted 'on-farm'. Starting too soon will mean your bin will not be emptied until the start date. Please see 'Frequently Asked Questions' for a fuller explanation.

Households currently without a garden waste bin

If you are not already a member of the garden waste collection scheme and live in a house, we will automatically give you a green 140 litre bin to store your food and garden waste hygienically until collection day. This should be left along with your sacks, at the boundary of your property by 7.00am on your normal collection day.

As well as your outdoor bin, and to make recycling more convenient, each household will get a small 5 litre silver kitchen caddy for collecting food scraps.

The caddy allows you to dispose of small quantities of cooked and raw food scraps such as tea bags, peelings and plate scrapings before being emptied into the larger bin ready for collection. To keep caddies clean, line them with newspaper or brown paper liners and wash with hot soapy water on a regular basis. See our 'Frequently Asked Questions' for more information.

Please do not leave the silver caddy out for collection by recycling crews. Only large wheeled bins can be safely loaded onto the recycling vehicle.

Apartments, maisonettes and sheltered housing

For houses without gardens, apartments, sheltered housing or where households are already home composting most of their waste, a smaller 23 litre bin and a kitchen caddy are available for collecting food waste only. We anticipate these will mainly be used by households in the last phase of the scheme, but if you already have a bin and feel this would be more suitable for your household, please request an exchange by filling in a web form at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwastecontact or by calling the environmental contact centre, details listed on the back page.

Minister steps in to aid failing city schools

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE Government is to intervene in the city's children's services because they need rapid improvement.

Ed Balls, Secretary of State for the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF), said yesterday that the Government's and parents' expectations are not being met by Milton Keynes Council.

He has set targets for the council and will oversee the formation of an improvement board.

The decision follows the publication of Ofsted's Annual Performance Assessment in December, when Milton Keynes joined Haringey, Doncaster and Surrey as a one-star council because of its 'inadequate' children's services.

Mr Balls' decision puts Milton Keynes Council among just eight authorities in the country subject to intervention.

Research carried out in March and April shows that GCSE performance here 'remains significantly behind national averages'.

Results for children from poorer households and ethnic minorities remain low.

The level of qualifications achieved by the age of 19 are 'well below national expectations'.

Permanent exclusions from primary schools are high and the 'weak oversight of schools' finances' has resulted in high budget overspends.

However, Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member for children, welcomed the Government's move.

She said: "There have been improvements and the DCSF accepts that. What we need to do now is sustain that improvement and do it more rapidly – we've got to quicken the pace."

She added: "Our goal is to deliver a service that Milton Keynes residents can rightly be proud of. Working in partnership with the Government is a very positive step towards this goal, and fits well with all our improvement activity."

But Conservative education spokesman, Cllr Andy Dransfield, branded it 'another indictment' of the Lib Dem administration.

"It's time that the people of Milton Keynes realised what a shambolic administration we've got. It's falling apart. This is just another one on top of Giles Brook School falling down, the abuse at Gatehouse School, the poor exam results, the one star rating. This is the final straw."

Mr Balls has stipulated that national education specialist Peter Kemp OBE is at the helm of the board.

It must develop an improvement plan by September 30 and ensure no schools have fewer than 30 per cent of pupils getting five or more higher-level GCSEs, as Leon, Radcliffe and Sir Frank Markham did last year.

Mr Balls said: "When our expectations and the expectations of parents are not being met, our responsibility is to step in and demand improvement. This is the case in Milton Keynes and I am today announcing a formal intervention to improve children's services there.

"I have asked that there is a particular emphasis on improving attainment in secondary schools including by narrowing the gap for those in receipt of free school meals and raising attainment of those with special educational needs."

Labour city MP Phyllis Starkey said: "I think it's good that the Government has intervened. It's true that performance has improved, but it's not improving fast enough. I'm particularly concerned about disadvantaged children's performance being particularly bad. If you allow inequality to deepen that's very serious."

Conservative city MP Mark Lancaster added: "This is a sad reflection on the state of children's services in Milton Keynes, but hopefully is the first step in trying to restore the decent service my constituents deserve."

Manslaughter for 'crime of passion'

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A TV engineer who stabbed his partner and best friend to death on a canal boat after he caught them having sex has been cleared of murder.

William Cranston, 44, from Stoke Hammond, was convicted of manslaughter by reason of provocation yesterday morning but jurors cleared him of murder even though he admitted the killing.

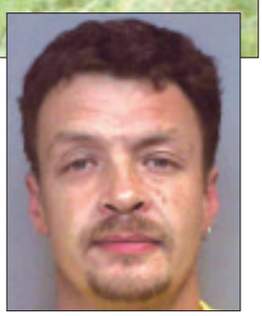
The attack took place on a narrowboat moored along the Grand Union Canal at Bragenham Side, Stoke Hammond, on September 7 last year, after Cranston caught his common law wife, Kay Morton, and best friend, Paul Wilkins, having sex.

He had been sleeping at the stern of the boat with his three-year-old son before he was awoken during the night by a noise and picked up a kitchen knife.

Ms Morton, 39, died from a single stab wound to the heart and Mr Wilkins, 55, suffered multiple stab wounds.

Cranston called 999 to tell them what he had done and asked for an ambulance.

Following the verdict at Reading Crown Court, a spokesman for the Crown Prosecution Service, Charles Ward-Jackson, said: "The CPS brought a case of murder against Mr Cranston on the basis that the deliberate stabbing of two people, even in circumstances of sexual infidelity, could not be justified as manslaughter by virtue of provocation.



'TRAGEDY': Crime scene, above, and killer William Cranston, right

"The CPS recognises that a jury must be free to apply its own standards of reasonable provocation and accepts the verdict in this case.

"Mr Cranston stands convicted of two counts of manslaughter, and any sentence in this extremely serious case is likely to be substantial.

"This was an appalling case and our thoughts are with the families and friends of Kay Morton and Paul Wilkins at this time."

Detective Superintendent Rob Mason said: "The deaths of Kay Morton and Paul Wilkins were a tragic event and remain devastating for Kay and Paul's children, relatives and friends.

"A number of families have been touched by this tragedy.

"This is not the verdict we were hoping for, but is does show the court felt Cranston was responsible for the deaths of Kay and Paul."

Cranston and his wife had been mourning the death of their other son, who was born prematurely and died seven months before the incident, aged only 55 days old.

Cranston will be sentenced later this month at Kingston Crown Court.

Arrests made in redway attacks case

TWO men have been arrested in connection with a series of sex attacks on the city's redways.

At 7am on Monday detectives arrested two men from Milton Keynes, aged 22 and 25, for questioning.

The attacks began two months ago, on May 2, when a woman in her thirties was sexually assaulted and robbed along a redway in Bradville.

Since then a 50-year-old woman was assaulted and robbed in Mount Farm on May 27, a 15-year-old girl was attacked on June 5 in Giffard Park and a 16-year-old was assaulted in Downs Barn on June 17.

Previously three men have been arrested for questioning but have been released without charge.

Yesterday police were granted an extension by the courts so that they can continue to question the two latest suspects in custody today.

Last week Detective Inspector Joe Kidman made a public appeal for information at the scene of the latest attack in Downs Barn and officers spent three hours asking passers-by for information. The 16-year-old victim was assaulted from behind as she walked across the H5 bridge from Campbell Park to Downs Barn at about 5pm on June 17.

Anyone with information about the sex attacks can contact police on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Don't panic over swine flu cases says health chief

THE number of swine flu cases has reached five in Milton Keynes.

MK NEWS broke the news on its website last week that four people were confirmed to be suffering from the virus.

NHS Milton Keynes said that two people from the same family had contracted swine flu on June 24, another case was confirmed the following day and a fifth was announced on Friday.

Health chiefs said that the patients are recovering well at home and have been prescribed anti-viral drugs.

The first case in Milton Keynes was announced last month following a man's trip to America. He has since recovered at home following treatment.

NHS Milton Keynes has a number of plans in place to ensure local services continue to be provided throughout the pandemic.

Dr Diane Gray, deputy director of Public Health, said: "These latest cases should not cause concern amongst residents in Milton Keynes.

"It is clear that we will see the number of cases in the borough rise in the coming weeks and months."

There were also four cases of swine flu confirmed at neighbouring Stowe School, near Buckingham, earlier this month.

Jilted lover denies killing was murder

A MECHANIC suffocated his ex-girlfriend after she ended their relationship, a court has heard.

The trial of Jason Burrows, who is charged with the murder of 22-year-old Gemma Sisley, began at Luton Crown Court on Monday.

Burrows, 34, has admitted her manslaughter but denies murder.

The court heard that Gemma described in her diary how she had been frightened of Burrows during a drunken violent outburst and described him as a Jekyll and Hyde character.

The prosecution alleges he was angry when she finished with him and killed her in his bedroom when she came to collect her belongings.

Prosecutor Amjad Malik said he gagged her by putting toilet paper down her throat to stop others in the house from hearing her screams.

Her neck was compressed possibly by being held in an arm lock and her body was wedged between the mattress and wooden side of his bed.

He said: "The prosecution say he intended to asphyxiate her because of the anger he had towards her because she had left him.

"He intended to kill her and carried out a sustained and determined attack.

"He has never provided an account of how and why he killed her, but it is likely he will advance a defence of diminished responsibility."

Burrows was living in a shared house in Milton Road, Broughton, Milton Keynes.

He met Gemma when they both worked for Dominos Pizza and they began dating in August last year. By day he worked at a garage.

Gemma, who lived at Holland Way, Newport Pagnell, died on October 15, having ended the relationship four days before while they were on holiday in Blackpool.

Notes in her diary described how he got drunk, was very abusive and aggressive and said he wanted to throw her out of the window, the court heard.

He apologised to her the following day but she was adamant the relationship was at an end and refused to travel home with him.

An entry in her diary while she took a coach back to Milton Keynes said: "No one will ever talk to me like he did last night. I have never been so insulted in all my life.

"I am so happy he has gone. I am starting to wonder if I will ever find the right man. I am so angry but relieved it is over."

VIOLENT DEATH: Gemma's diary revealed her fears

On Wednesday, October 15 Gemma arranged to go to his house between 9pm-10pm to collect some of her property.

She went into his bedroom and others in the house heard noises as if furniture was being moved and a sound like someone being sick, the court heard.

A friend of Burrows was left two voice mail messages by him after 10pm. One said: "I have done something really bad. You won't believe me when I tell you. After this you won't hear from me again."

He later told him he had strangled her and said he was at the M1 and was going to kill himself, the court heard.

The following morning Burrows was struck by a lorry when he ran on to the carriageway on the M1.

He was taken to hospital but was not seriously injured and was released into the custody of police.

The case continues.

Fears for city's future if parking proposals go through

NEARLY 960 people have had their say on plans to scrap free parking in the city centre.

The majority of responses were from residents and businesses who did not support Milton Keynes Council's proposals to remove the city's 5,000 free bays.

Main concerns expressed were disagreement with timing of the changes in view of the economic situation and fear that the proposals will deter shoppers and visitors from coming to Milton Keynes.

The consultation, which is not closed, also gathered views on the introduction of a 'green' parking permit, offering low cost parking to drivers of environmentally friendly vehicles, and a discount for Milton Keynes residents after removing free parking on North and South Row.

The results are now being analysed, with final proposals expected to be developed and consulted on in the autumn. The changes could be introduced next year.

Cllr Alan Mallyon, cabinet member for transport, said: "The level of response to this consultation demonstrates the level of interest in the future of passenger transport and car parking in Milton Keynes.

"Parking is a contentious issue and it is not possible to please all of the people all of the time. However, we want to work with residents, businesses and employees of Milton Keynes to ensure we come up with the best possible parking solution for everyone."

Provision of disabled toilets far from adequate

SIR - I write regarding a disgrace for disabled people in our area.

As a supporter of the Changing Places campaign, I think it is a disgrace that Milton Keynes Council doesn't provide enough public toilets that meet the needs of local people with severe disabilities and their carers.

While we have one in the area this is far from enough.

People with profound and multiple learning disabilities need Changing Places toilets – with a hoist, changing bench and plenty of space. Without them carers are often forced to change their disabled loved-ones on dirty toilet floors.

I urge the Milton Keynes Council to install more Changing Places toilets. People with profound and multiple learning disabilities should have the same opportunities as everyone else. And carers have enough to contend with so let's not make their lives harder by denying them the right to basic public facilities.

I encourage readers to take action sign the online petition about this important issue at

A heartfelt thank you

SIR - Regarding 'Flying the flag for the forces' (MK NEWS June 24, 2009), it has taken a long time for MK to get round to this, especially with such historic links to both past and present HM Forces in and around the MK area, but better late than never.

It's always nice to get a pat on the back, but when you spent the better part of your past career putting your life on the line for God, Queen and Country it is especially nice. Thank you MK.

A proud mother

SIR - This tradition of an Armed Forces Day should be carried on to thank our veterans.

I am proud to say that the Milton Keynes Army Cadets take their citizenship duties seriously and I'm even prouder to say that the handsome young man who raised the flag is my son.

Name and address supplied

Redway response

SIR - Despite using them regularly, I have seen no police presence on the redways since the reported attacks started and never saw any before.

So I wonder what the 'increased' presence means. The advice to always walk with someone is clearly impossible if you want to build walking into your routines, rather than treat it as a leisure activity. No wonder the roads are so crowded and everyone is getting fatter and less fit.

Georgina Baidoun,

Drivers should take care

SIR - Could I please express my opinion on the Oxley Park buses.

Residents in Oxley Park obviously feel they are too posh to use buses – however, this is not the case at all; they are not.

They are wrong to vent their anger at bus drivers.

It is not their fault they are told which routes to do.

I walk my children to school everyday from Kingsmead and on the way I will watch lots of parents load their children into the car to drive them to school which they could quite easily walk. It's just laziness.

Every day at the school parents will park on corners and then when buses come along they cannot get through because parents have parked in awkward places.

Parents are complaining about the buses but many of them drive 4x4s at excessive speeds because they are late – but they don't worry that they may knock a child down.

Maybe we should start a petition to try and stop these parents coming through the car park. The parents at Oxley Park cause the problems in the car park not the buses.

Just yesterday I witnessed a parent park on a corner which meant a bus had to sit and wait for him to come out of the school for him to move.

The driver eventually came out and leisurely got in his car and drove off. He then stuck his fingers up at the bus driver.

I have worked out that is the attitude of residents in Oxley Park. They think they are better than everybody else.

Maybe they should take a look at the way that they drive in their 4x4s and sports cars and realise that they could actually knock down a schoolchild at the speed they drive.

The buses are not the only problem.

Kingsmead resident
Sent by email

The way forward

SIR - Oxley Park buses are tied in to finances in the council and buses are an integral part for many Milton Keynes people.

Oxley Park residents can ask the bus drivers to drive more slowly but as Oxley petitioners moan about so many cars at the local school they should all walk their children to school and let buses run freely.

Radcliffe academy plan has whiff of desperation

SIR - You report Radcliffe School is seeking 'academy' status.

I don't fully understand what an academy is, but believe it to be something to do with local businesses providing some of the school's funding.

This is partly necessitated by the school owing MK Council over two million pounds.

In this case, however, the running of the school will be handed to an academy trust from Kent from whom Radcliffe will import a new 'ethos'.

Many years ago Radcliffe was Wolverton Grammar School. Then it became a comprehensive; then it became, according to Ofsted, a failing comprehensive in special measures; then it failed to meet the Learning and Skills Council's criterion of having a minimum of ten pupils per A Level class; now it offers only two A Level subjects: English and Biology.

Clearly, ambitious parents and ambitious children will seek an education elsewhere in these present circumstances. Radcliffe seems to have turned itself into a glorified secondary modern.

I would be interested to know how academy status is likely to improve things, other than provide work for the sign writers and letterhead printers.

I would also like to know how the sixth form teaching in this school has been allowed to fall into a state of virtual non-existence.

Does this reflect on the quality of the facilities, the staff, the pupil intake, the governors, the local authority or the parents? Surely, there must be an explanation somewhere or, as so often the case these days, is nobody responsible?

I presume the new imported 'ethos' will bring about miraculous changes. I would be fascinated to learn what the Leigh Academy has to offer by way of panaceas and solutions that have not already been tried. I do detect the faint whiff of desperation about this whole business.

Bus stop situation fear

SIR - Our issue is not so much the route via Harlow Crescent, but the placement of the bus stop.

It is literally four feet from our walkway and less than ten feet from our front door.

This proximity causes users to stand directly in from our entrance and leads to a number of very offensive practices.

Below is a list of items we find very disturbing:

- The mess left by some users (mainly phlegm) in the immediate vicinity
- Swearing and loud conversations (which are heard by my children while watching television or coming and going
- Obstruction of the walkway/entry to our home
- The stopping of the bus directly in front of our door multiple times a day.

We find it a travesty that our lifestyle should be disturbed and property value affected to such an extent.

Considering we paid the same price for our home (Denbigh) as everyone else, this is grossly unfair.

Angela Dixon

A hidden agenda… ?

SIR - Your anonymous letter writer stating that he considers bobbies on bikes are a waste of money forgets that where this has been implemented in other area the crime solving and arrest rate has increased substantially.

Cars are alright on motorways and dual carriageways, but around town, cycles are frequently much faster and when in hot pursuit can go where not even a 4x4 can go.

Perhaps the writer has hidden reasons for not wanting a more intimate and more efficient mode of transport for our overworked police force.

Wheelie bin woes

SIR - The Government has said that residents can decide if they want to have the wheelie bins so why has MK Council, yet again, just told residents what they have to do?

The councillors may well live in a big house with a big kitchen, I don't have room on my kitchen worktop for this bin, and why should I?

I recycle whatever I can and always put out two pink sacks to my one black one.

I do not want a caddy or green bin.

Benefits blasted

MKC made £2.3million of unnecessary over payments

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE benefits service provided by Milton Keynes Council is 'poor' and has 'uncertain prospects for improvement', according to a national inspector.

The Audit Commission has given the service a zero-star rating out of a scale of three.

A report by the national regulator says the council service, which was previously rated as 'good', has not paid housing benefits accurately or quickly to customers who claim by post and performance in dealing with customers whose circumstances change has been 'weak'.

People also find it hard to contact the service by telephone and there is not sufficient consultation with customers.

It adds that the council has missed out on around £1.2 million of possible 'reward' funding from the Government as it made more than £2.3 million of unneccesary over payments over four years.

In 2007/08 the Service paid £72m in benefits to approximately 18,700 customers. By the end of January 2009 the number of customers receiving assistance had increased to 20,539.

Robert Hathaway, Audit Commission senior manager, said: "Successfully claiming benefits is an essential safety net for many people, especially during the current economic downturn.

"Milton Keynes Council has not done enough to ensure that people who need help with their housing costs get this promptly and accurately.

"It is vital that the council moves quickly to improve this service and our recommendations can provide a focus to support this."

The council says the reduced score is due to a change in the rules under the new inspection regime as the Audit Commission takes over responsibility for this from the Benefits Fraud Inspectorate.

The Audit Commission says it is now focusing on the perspective of service users and local citizens, rather than processes.

Council leader Sam Crooks, cabinet member for finance, said: "The Audit Commission accepts itself that a downward score does not mean that the service has deteriorated, but that they are now looking at the service from a different perspective.

"But we agree wholeheartedly that we clearly need to follow this shift of focus ourselves, by driving forward and making sure we are not just chasing money and figures, but putting people who rely on these benefits at the very centre of things."

Cllr Jenni Ferrans, cabinet member for social inclusion and equalities, added: "Last year we concentrated on the basics, getting new claims processed quickly, and we succeeded.

"The new style inspection will help us move on from that, to gain a deeper understanding of the different needs of our community, to help them to get the benefits they need for themselves and their families more easily.

"We're also already working on speeding up the handling of changes to claims, and improving their accuracy, as many of our residents are experiencing big changes at the moment."

School sponsor row leaves Lib Dems feeling 'bullied'

THE Government is pressurising the Radcliffe into becoming an academy.

That was the view of Milton Keynes Council's Lib Dem cabinet last Tuesday, when they agreed to a sponsor who will close and reopen the Wolverton secondary school.

At the council meeting, Sandra Clark, cabinet member for children's services, wanted to 'address the pressure being applied by the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) to find a lead sponsor'.

She said: "Ten days ago officers informed me that the DCSF should confirm our lead sponsor or they would intervene and impose one upon us. We found this completely unacceptable."

"An academy solution is not our preferred solution," she added.

She said she would have preferred local consultation on the chosen sponsor, but they had a deadline imposed by the DCSF.

The preferred sponsor, which puts up £2 million funding and then has influence over the school's ethos, was agreed to be the Leigh Academies Trust, which runs a school in Kent.

Local sponsors were considered more desirable, but the Government would only accept external organisations. Therefore, Milton Keynes Council and MK Dons have only been named as co-sponsors.

Cllr Andrew Geary, Conservative group leader, said: "It's highly unfortunate we're being asked to sign up to something – being bullied into something – we know little about."

Cllr Clark added: "I share your depression over the matter. It's been taxing me since I joined in 2002. Every meeting I go to I get more and more depressed about the situation. We're simply in this position because we have no choice."

Headteacher John O'Donnell said: "We have a building that's not 21st century. We all have our views on academies but some of those views must be put aside. These young people deserve far better than they've currently got."

Britain's Got Talent finalists wow fete

MK'S very own dance act Nemisis had all the right moves when they attended a middle school fete on Saturday.

The Britain's Got Talent 2008 finalists thrilled the crowds with their street dancing in the sweltering heat at Loughton Middle School's fete.

The group were mobbed by youngsters afterwards as they posed for pictures and autographs.

Carnival confronts the credit crunch

NEWPORT PAGNELL CARNIVAL is aiming to beat the recession.

The carnival which takes place an Saturday is not charging for entry for the first time ever with organisers dubbing it the 'Credit Crunch Carnival'

A spokesman said: "We intend having people on the gates at the busiest times and would appreciate any donations offered but there will not be a compulsory fee.

"We hope this will encourage more people to attend and also enable them to spend the money they would have paid on the various charity stalls and attractions."

This years carnival has the theme America, as it takes place on American Independence Day.

The event starts at 11.50 am with a parade of Classic Cars followed at 12 noon by the main parade from Tanners Drive towards Riverside Meadow where thre will be a host of attractions including a dog show, Rodeo ride, Sumo Wrestling, Quad Bikes, large inflatable slides and castles and other children's entertainment

ROCKERS: Togmor close the festival

As good as Glastonbury

MUSIC lovers basked in the sun at Bradwell Abbey over the weekend as Togfest returned.

With over 35 acts on four stages over two days their was something to suit all tastes.

Friday nights lineup included Hellzaboppin' and Tin Soldiers that got the place rocking while the spoken soul genre of Poppy Seed took performance poetry to a new level.

On Saturday at the courtyard stage the legendry Del Bromham and Stray rocked the huge crowd while great sets from The Ladders and Soundcasters just kept the festival jumping.

For those who prefered something a little more traditional the OU String Orchestra provided a wonderful performence in the Acoustic Café.

The Barn was rocking to the brilliant Mind Warp Pavillion and the equally fine Bare Bones Boogie Band.

Closing the festival were the celtic rockers Togmor with a special appearance again from Del Bromham.

OU Anniversary concert proves a triumph

THE Open University 40th Anniversary Concert took Milton Keynes Theatre by storm on Sunday.

Conductor Sian Edwards and the Milton Keynes City Orchestra, Open University Choir and guest singers and soloists played to more than 900 people.

The first few bars of Salzedo's Divermento introduced the concert, in recognition of the BBC musical introduction used for OU programmes between 1971 and the 1980s.

The concert opened with Beethoven's, Overture Fidelio, followed by the Open University choir performing In the Beginning by Jonathan Willcocks.

Beethoven's 9th Symphony closed the performance to a standing ovation.

A HOUSING group is taking measures to beat the slump in the property market by offering 100 per cent mortgages and loans to help buyers afford a home in a major new development.

Places for People is set to offer its own mortgage range for people buying houses in the canal-side Wolverton Park, a multi-million pound regeneration project of 300 properties.

The company, one of the UK's largest property management and development groups, says the products are being launched due to the high interest from buyers who are unable to access or afford the necessary finance to purchase their own home.

It is believed to be the first time that a housing group has offered its own mortgages.

David Cowans, chief executive of Places for People said: "We are really proud of our Wolverton Park development and are committed to making it a successful place where people want to live and work in the long-term.

"This move is about helping people realise their aspirations and own their dream home.

"Rather than rent the properties out, we decided it was better to give our customers greater choice and reassurance by providing mortgages, equity loans and a buy back guarantee."

The finance products on offer include 100 per cent mortgages, which means no deposit is needed, and an equity loan up to 30 per cent for those who cannot afford the full cost of home ownership, with no interest to pay for ten years.

A buy back guarantee is also on offer for the first three years, which means the company will buy back the home at the price customers originally paid should they experience negative equity.

The only restriction is that the property must be the main residence of the purchaser.

Mark Johnson from Knight Frank, sales agent and advisers to Places for People at Wolverton Park added: "Due to market conditions, many buyers have been unable to find the funds to make their move, so the new mortgage and equity loan products will unleash a whole new market."

New skills on show at centre:mk

IT was all about learning a new skill at thecentre:mk yesterday.

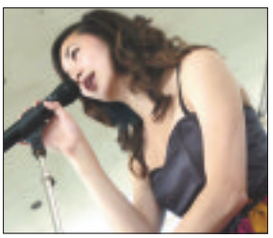
The Big Skill event at Middleton Hall was opened by Mayor Euan Henderson.

Training providers, learners and performers came together to celebrate learning and try to inspire people to take on new training.

Visitors had the chance to try their hand at IT and hairdressing skills (below) as well as floristry plus for youngsters there was clay modelling and piggy bank painting.

Demonstrations also included plumbing, electronics, photography and engineering from Milton Keynes College, and the remote operation of Mercedes vehicles by Mercedes-Benz UK.

There were also stage performances throughout the day, including classical singer Natalie Chua (below) and singers from Amersham and Wycombe College.



There's talent's in town

CHECK out some of the most talented acts in the area at Milton Keynes Theatre.

This Sunday more than 150 hopefuls will be flocking there to showcase their talents in the first stage of MK's Top Talent – the regions biggest talent search.

The event is in association with MK NEWS and Heart and one lucky act will get the chance to win a paid professional contract for this years pantomime-Cinderella.

Each act has just two minutes to impress the judges including Cinderella herself – West End leading lady Louise Dearman, panto producer Kevin Wood and Editor of MK NEWS, David Gale.

Successful auditonees will be invited back for final auditions later in July in a bid to be picked as one of the final 40 acts to take part in the heats in September.

Why not join our local singers, dancers and comedians (and some slightly more weird and wonderful acts) on Sunday from 10am onwards and find out what MK has got to offer, cheer the acts along and find out what our showbiz judges think?

It's free, open to everyone and you're welcome to come and go as you please. Bring your friends and family for a day of fun with all the elements of your favourite talent shows at Milton Keynes Theatre and the chance to see our winner take their first steps to stardom! It's a day not to be missed!

Young web designer picks up coveted award

A MILTON Keynes College student has scooped a gold medal in a competition to find the UK's best young web designer.

Marcin Michalowski, 18 won the accolade at the UKSkills contest hosted by thecentre:mk at the weekend and attended by dozens of students from afar afield as Scotland and Portsmouth.

His tutor Jennie James said: "We are obviously very proud of Marcin.

"He had some stiff competition and a very difficult brief but he performed exceptionally well and deserved to win his category."

Marin now has the chance of going forward to represent the UK in the international WorldSkills contest in London in 2011.

It comes in the same week as the House of Lords has announced that another Milton Keynes College student – Richard Edwards has been selected for this year's WorldSkills team in Calgary.

The competition is seen at the 'Olympics' of the vocational world with 40 different countries competing to showcase the best work-related talent in the globe.

"We are delighted that our students are being selected as being among the best in the world. It's a fantastic achievement for both them and the college," added Jennie.

Class above the rest

A SCHOOL building has been rewarded for its inspirational design.

Water Hall Primary School in Bletchley beat off 15 other schools from across the country at the British Council for School Environment awards for school design and construction.

The £6.7million project, the first existing school in Milton Keynes to be rebuilt, topped the 'inspirational design' category.

The building includes sensory rooms and a private patio for each classroom and is home to an outdoor kaleidoscope area thought to be the only one of its kind in Britain.

Tony Draper, the school's head teacher, said: "Our whole school is thrilled to have won. The pupils absolutely love their new environment.

"The building has engendered a sense of pride and ownership I never thought possible and we're already seeing an improvement in self esteem and behaviour.

"We didn't need an award to tell us how good it is, but this is the icing on the cake."

Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member for children at Milton Keynes Council, said: "This demonstrates that we are firmly back on track with our programme, which is creating world class teaching and learning environments."

MK NEWS man takes on the NS presidency

DAVID Fordham, chief executive of Iliffe News and Media, the owners of MK NEWS, has become president of the Newspaper Society.

Georgina Harvey, Trinity Mirror Regionals managing director, was appointed NS vice president.

Mr Fordham succeeds Michael Pelosi, managing director of Northcliffe Media, who has held the post for the past year.

A new NS president is elected from the membership every year in July.

Mr Fordham said: "The NS continues to have an important role representing local media and it is a pleasure to have been elected as its president for the coming year.

"Like all media, the industry is experiencing unprecedented challenges as a result of the recession but we have also seen that the need for independent, grass roots news has never been greater.

"Local newspapers must be allowed to continue to fight for the causes their readers believe in, and to continue to develop into truly multimedia news organisations in the digital age."

Mr Fordham has been chief executive of Iliffe News and Media since 2003 and is a main board director of the publisher's owner Yattendon Investment Trust. He serves on the NS Council and is a member of the Marketing Committee and the Independent Publishers Forum.

Mr Fordham started his career in 1971 when he joined Cambridge Newspapers as a sales administration assistant before going on to hold various posts at Emap and Archant (formerly Eastern Counties Newspapers).

He was appointed chief executive of The Adscene Group in 1996 before returning to Yattendon Investment Trust as managing director of Cambridge Newspapers three years later.

Mr Fordham is married with three children and his interests include golf, photography, cooking and theatre.

The NS, the voice of Britain's local media, represents 1,300 newspapers, 1,200 websites, 450 magazines, 250 ultra local titles, 45 radio stations and two TV stations.

ADHD charity calls time on its efforts

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

AFTER 14 years helping families, charity MK ADHD has finally closed its doors to those affected by the disorder.

"It's soul destroying," said founder Monica Harris as the Conniburrow-based centre for families affected by attention deficit hyperactivity disorder shut up shop on Friday.

After falling behind on rent payments they were served with an eviction notice February to vacate their base by July.

Volunteers will make an effort to continue to run a helpline, however without their home they cannot hold support meetings, provide a drop in centre, or even continue with education sessions on ADHD for police officers.

Their hundreds of books on behavioural disorders have gone to Northampton, where a new centre is being set up.

"It's upsetting to see all the wonderful things that are happening in Northamptonshire for people with ADHD, and yet here there will not be anything left," Ms Harris added.

Milton Keynes Council says on its website that seven per cent of children suffer from ADHD.

However a spokesman told MK NEWS in February that it 'didn't believe the group's contribution to ADHD is significant enough' to be funded through its special needs budget.

END OF THE LINE: Monica Harris and Mandy Caukwell packing away the office

Andrea Bilbow, chief executive of ADDISS, the national ADHD charity, said: "These volunteers have given years to helping so many families, hundreds of them.

"It's bewildering they didn't get help from local authorities.

"ADHD is one of the most commonly diagnosed conditions. Parents just don't know where to turn.

"These support groups are really, really important and I can't believe a place the size of Milton Keynes has lost such an asset. I can't see what families will do without them."

MP Mark Lancaster, who officially opened the Conniburrow base three years ago, called the closure 'very bad news for the city'.

Milton Keynes and North Bucks Chamber of Commerce

The Annual Chamber Dinner And Business Excellence Awards 2009

Be a winner in 2009

It is that time of year, the Milton Keynes and North Bucks Chamber reminds you to get your entries into its Annual Business Excellence Awards. The Chamber's Business Excellence Awards recognise the achievements of local businesses and rewards them for their commitment to excellence.

This prestigious competition has attracted high profile sponsorship from major local and national organisations; with each award offering valuable media coverage as well as a specially commissioned sculpture award and valuable publicity for all winners. Shortlisted businesses will also benefit from the valuable publicity and media coverage.

Last year the Business Excellence awards attracted the largest number of entries in the Chamber's history with over 100 companies wanting to demonstrate to the business community the success they have engineered and the quality of their employees to showcase the real difference their employees make to their customers, environment and wider community. The winning class of 2008 showcased to over 680 people and the BBC's working lunch host Declan Curry.

The sculpture, commissioned specifically is symbolic of the MK business community. Represented by the eagle, the sculpture two years ago recognised the coming of age of the MK business community. Last year it reflected businesses flexing their wings for the international stage. The 2009 sculpture will mark the final transformation.

Inspired by our guest speaker Jo Salter, Britain's first female fighter pilot, master of ceremonies Declan Curry and supported by a host of local and national companies, the judging of the competition will be undertaken by a panel of leading business people. Each finalist will be invited to attend a glittering awards ceremony at Stadium MK.

Ticket prices:

£85.00 members, £95.00 non members
Table of 10 £800.00 members, £900.00 non members

Clockwise MP makes the time to fulfill role

FOR the last two months, politicians' everyday work has been drowned out by the national uproar over expenses claims. Last Wednesday reporter JESSICA CUNNIFFE went to Westminster with Milton Keynes MP Dr Phyllis Starkey to talk debating, Speakers and getting your voice heard.

IT'S a good thing Phyllis Starkey's office faces the clock face of Big Ben.

Timekeeping is essential for the Labour MP whose work will range, within just one day, from the UK's toilets to the crisis in Sri Lanka.

"There's more to do than you can possibly do," says the former research scientist, as she hastily flicks through the Order Paper, the agenda for the coming day.

But that fact doesn't stop her trying to do quite a lot of it.

The grandmother of three is not only member for Milton Keynes South West, but, with her chairmanship of the Communities and Local Government Select Committee and interest in foreign affairs, her responsibilities are local, national and international.

At 9.30am, she is dashing about her modern office in Portcullis House, barefoot, preparing for a meeting with charity Mencap.

Shoes back on, she meets their representatives, who thank her for her committee's report on the provision of public toilets.

By 11.30am she is hurrying across to the Chamber for International Development Questions, during which she asks the minister to meet with Gaza charity, Interpal.

As backbenchers' chatter drowns out her question, new Speaker John Bercow interrupts with 'order' to quell the murmuring.

Phyllis believes this Tory MP will bring a new order to Parliament, and that is why she voted for him as Speaker one week earlier.

"I want to see all those traditions which just get in the way, swept away. The support for what we do – the buildings, staff, food – is just run incredibly inefficiently and costs too much."

She also hopes to bring some common sense to Commons expenditure through her role on the new constitutional reform committee.

However, she still relishes the antiquity and archaisms of her workplace.

"It's amazing to be part of the long Parliamentary tradition and to be in a building where you can read the entry in the diary from men who found Guy Fawkes."

Fast-forward to 2009 and the spotlight is on someone who has also, some might argue, nearly had explosive effect on Parliament: Gordon Brown.

After his grilling at Prime Minister's Questions, Phyllis reflects on the contrast with his predecessor, Tony Blair, whom she served under since she was elected 12 years ago.

"The 1997 election was a huge victory, a moment you get once in your life. It was euphoric. It's like falling in love though. You get that euphoria at the start, but then when you live together for many years, you can't expect that to continue."

In 1997 she was one of 'Blair's Babes', part of the many women elected that year. However, she does not feel, as former minister Caroline Flint does, like Brown's 'window dressing', deeming the accusation 'silly'.

But her ambition does not go beyond her committee. Its work is what she feels is her greatest achievement in her career.

"Of course I would've liked to have been a minister but it didn't happen. I'm really pleased to be the chairman of the select committee. You can do it for two terms, and I would like to continue."

After a lunch meeting there is a 3pm seminar on the plight of the Tamils, something which came to her attention through her constituency's large Sri Lankan population.

By 4pm she is charging through the corridors to focus on her 'top thing': housing.

Amid the chandeliers and thick carpets in the House of Commons, her focus is not this house but others – or rather the shortage of decent accommodation in Britain.

This need is something she learns more about during a National Housing Federation meeting then a Nationwide conference.

"I get lots of people complaining that their children can't afford to buy a home or that they themselves are living in very expensive rented accommodation. They ask me, 'why aren't you building more houses more quickly?'"

For Phyllis, 5.30pm is rush hour – not to get home, but to dash to a Mencap reception. This is followed by a vote at 7pm, and then an Open University event in Downing Street.

She explains that, in order to maintain a social life, she often dines with friends and her husband in the Palace, excusing herself from the table when she has to go and vote.

"It's a mad arrangement", she says.

But, as Big Ben bongs 8pm and her working day ends, it seems this is one tradition Phyllis will never break.

Oar-some dragon boat race celebrates 8th year

THE sweltering heat couldn't put off an estimated 12,000 spectators who went to Willen Lake to watch the Milton Keynes Dragon Boat Festival.

The eighth festival, sponsored by Easycopiers attracted 60 crews (over 1,250 competitors) for a fantastic day's racing in glorious sunshine.

Eventual winners were 'Wheldon 5 0' representing Wheldon Contracts & Services Ltd who won a closely fought final with 'Chicken Balls 09' from Admiral Business Systems Ltd in second place, 'Sink Oar Swim' representing Argos Finance in third, 'KPMG Dragons' representing KPMG in fourth and 'Serjeants Mess' from HMP Woodhill in their first year at the event in fifth.

'The Centre Strikes Back' from thecentre:mk won the Charity Trophy.

The festival-nominated charity was World Vision.

If you or your company would like to be on the starting line in 2010 call 01780 470718 or visit www.dragonboatfestivals.co.uk/miltonkeynes to find out this year's results.

Friday, July 3 - A date for your diary

DO you live, work, shop or socialise in Central Milton Keynes?

If so, Discover Milton Keynes wants to hear about a day in your life.

Friday, July 3 is the day that will be recorded for all time and for future generations of the city and will feature in an exhibition planned for later in the month.

It is hoped that as many people as possible will contribute to a unique snapshot of what everyday life is like for the people of Milton Keynes in 2009 by going online or posting details of their day in the life diary.

The organisers want people to send everything from text to images and even evidence of an event attended such a cinema ticket or a bus ticket.

In just its first year, Discover Milton Keynes, the city centre visitors and heritage shop run by Living Archive and supported by Milton Keynes Council, has put on nine exhibitions about the city's extraordinary history.

Caz Tricks, the 'Day-in-the-Life' project co-ordinator said: "We want to collect diaries from anyone who is in the city centre on Friday, July 3.

"If you live in CMK, start your diary from the moment you wake up and take us through your day to the time you go to bed.

"If you work in CMK, start with your journey into city centre until your journey home. If you shop, socialise or spend your leisure time in CMK, then take us through your day.

"Tell us the high points, the low points and the bits in between.

"Nothing is too trivial to record, and that if anyone can take photographs during the day too, or contribute mementoes like bus tickets, receipts – all the better to record people's real lives."

The diaries will be on the Discover Milton Keynes website, and on the Living Archive Facebook page, as well as being part of the showcase exhibition planned for July.

To take part email your photographs and details of your day to: cmktales@googlemail.com, go online at www.discovermiltonkeynes.co.uk, add details to the Living Archive Facebook page (simply go to www.facebook.com and add 'Living Archive' to the search field), or deliver your day in the life diary to: Discover Milton Keynes Showcase, 672 Silbury Boulevard, Central Milton Keynes MK9 3AE. Call 01908 322568 and they'll collect it.

Price correct as at 23 June 2009. We fly to Cagliari. Book now for travel from 8 July to 15 August 2009. Variable charges for hold baggage apply and some payment methods attract a handling fee. See website for details.

Happy £7.8m birthday

PM's blessing for education 'revolution'

NEARLY £8 million of extra funding will be given to the Open University, whose 40th birthday was marked at Downing Street.

The celebrations at Number 10 last Wednesday coincided with the Higher Education Funding Council's pledge of £7.8 million to enhance the national role of the distance learning institution.

The Walton Hall-based university was described as 'nothing short of a revolution for higher education' by Prime Minister Gordon Brown.

He said: "It has opened the doors to a whole new audience of students who have not only seen academic success but reaped the wider rewards learning brings."

Lord Mandelson, Secretary of State for Business, Innovation and Skills, said: "I am pleased that they will receive further funding to enhance the important national role they play, working collaboratively across the sector."

The additional money will be focused on three projects, including one which will offer advice to the 35,000 students who leave higher education part way through their degree.

The second initiative is focused on technological development, helping them to enhance teaching while reducing the costs of course development.

The third project will move towards flexible degrees where distance learning and face-to-face modules to allow people to change from part-time and full-time education.

Professor David Vincent, Pro Vice-Chancellor at The Open University, said: "The landscape of higher education and the needs of today's students are changing rapidly and in order to address these challenges, a collaborative approach is hugely important. Being open with resources and content has always been a part of the OU's mission to widen participation in education.

"We are extremely excited by the potential that these projects present for the sector as a whole and, most importantly, for students."

MKNEWS BRIEFS

Multi-faith civic service

THIS year's annual civic service will be held at the Parish Church of St Peter and St Paul, in Newport Pagnell.

The ceremony will be a celebration of the diversity of Milton Keynes and will include representatives of many faiths.

The service takes place at 4pm on Sunday and everyone is welcome.

Milton Keynes Mayor Cllr Euan Henderson said: "This is a very special event in the Milton Keynes calendar and I very much hope to see as many people there as possible. You don't need a ticket. Just turn up.

"It is a great opportunity for people from across the borough, from all backgrounds, to get together to enjoy what will be both a moving and an entertaining occasion."

The Civic Ceremony will be preceded by the traditional Mayoral Procession along Newport Pagnell High Street. The Mayor and Mayoress hope the congregation will join them afterwards for tea and coffee in the nearby British Legion Club.

Islamic school sports day

MILTON Keynes Islamic Society's annual school sports day takes place at Southwood School, Conniburrow on July 12.

The day invites families from the surrounding communities who attend the MKIS School of Islamic Studies, local dignitaries and representatives from other faith groups.

As well as the sports day there will also be other activities on offer including football, tug of war, bouncy castle and craft stalls.

Market on the upgrade

IMPROVEMENTS are to be made to the city centre's open air market.

A new five-year contract has been awarded by Milton Keynes Partnership to Bray Associates, which has run the market for a number of years.

Over the next three months the look of the CMK Open Market will be improved with new colour matched awnings for the stalls and the addition of purpose made overhangs to give protection from bad weather.

The layout of the stalls will provide for clear, unobstructed aisles and there will be well lit 24-hour pedestrian routes through the market.

'Lockable' stalls will be secured with roller shutters and covered with awning blinds to improve the appearance of the market when it is closed.

WIN a fabulous prize worth £500

TO celebrate the start of the summer holidays this month MK NEWS has a fantastic outdoor activity pack to give away to keep your children entertained.

This newspaper has teamed up with the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) to offer a stunning prize worth £500 with 16 fun items including a skateboard, basketball hoop and ball, Inline Scooter and a pogo stick to keep the kids busy at home when they aren't at the local summer holiday club.

Many schools in England will be offering summer activities this year to help ease the strain some parents experience during the holiday period.

There's also help available with the costs of holiday care through Tax Credits.

The services on offer will vary from school to school, but can include activities like sports tuition, arts, drama and volunteering opportunities.

The aim of holiday activities on offer through schools is to give five to 16-year-olds more opportunities to have fun, make new friends and enjoy new experiences.

To find out what's on offer in your area, talk to your local school, call the Families Information Service on 0800 2 346 346 or visit schoolsfinder.direct.gov.uk.

The summer activity pack also includes Inflatable Connect 4, swingball, a sunshade, Sizzlin Cool Hydro Blaster, Phlatball Senior, Trac Ball, Kickmaster Target Shot Rebounder, Kickmaster Keep Up Commentary Training Ball and netball, cricket and badminton sets.

To be in with a chance of winning the set log on to www.mk-news.co.uk and click on the competition to find this week's question.

Then send your answers by email to competitions@mk-news.co.uk.

Please include your name, address and daytime telephone number.

First out of the hat wins. Editor's decision is final. Deadline for entries July 8.

Ticket to (free) ride

ALL 60-plus and disabled bus pass holders will be able to travel free at all times on local buses within the borough.

From next Monday Milton Keynes Council is abolishing the 35 pence flat fare that holders of concessionary bus passes currently have to pay for travel before 9:30am during the week within the borough.

There are no changes to the rules for the country-wide national concessionary travel scheme which entitles pass holders to free travel on local buses anywhere in England after 9:30am on Monday to Friday and at all times at weekends and on bank holidays.

Pass holders will be able to use their existing passes to benefit from the free peak time travel there is no need to obtain a new pass.

Free travel before 9:30am is only available within the borough of Milton Keynes for Milton Keynes pass holders. It will not be possible to ask the driver for a cross boundary ticket for free travel to destinations outside Milton Keynes until after 9:30am on Monday to Friday.

Cllr Alan Mallyon, Cabinet Member responsible for transport said: "This will allow older people in Milton Keynes to get out and about much more, and enjoy the very varied sights and sounds of Milton Keynes."

Cllr Norman Miles, leader of the Labour Party said "We argued hard for this initiative and we will continue to support initiatives that will keep Milton Keynes moving and make bus use accessible to all."

If you have any questions contact the bus card section at the council on 01908 252558.

Have the neighbours over for The Big Lunch

DO you know your neighbours?

Now is your chance to get to know them better as residents in Milton Keynes take part in The Big Lunch on Sunday, July 19.

People in three neighbourhoods have applied to Milton Keynes Council to close down their roads to hold a street party and there is still time for more to take part.

The idea was started by staff at The Eden Project in Cornwall, who are asking people across the country to stop what they are doing and sit down to lunch together to help build community spirit.

To organise your own event email Paula Hakon at Milton Keynes Council on paula.hakon@milton-keynes.gov.uk by Friday.

Please include details of the road or area that you intend to arrange the lunch, the times (please include sufficient time for setting up and clearing away) and the name of the person organising the lunch and their contact details on the day.

For more information visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk and www.thebiglunch.com.

Pain Killers and a sheet of exercises are not your only options!
Neither is block booking and paying in advance for many many treatments

VALUE FOR MONEY SPINAL HEALTHCARE

Most of our patients find they achieve significant improvements in their condition within as little as only 2-8 treatment sessions

OUR CLINIC POLICY

We DO NOT agree with advising patients to pay in advance for block sessions. We tailor treatment programmes to fit the inidvidual and modify treatment programmes as you progress. Therefore promoting cost effective patient care. We aim to get long lasting results in as few sessions as possible.

QUALITY SERVICE

All our Doctors of Chiropractic have undergone 5 years full time training at the world renowned Anglo-European College of Chiropractic and are registered with and abide by the rules and ethics of the General Chiropractic Council. Normal treatment sessions are from 20 to 40 minutes promoting excellent value for money with no compromise to quality of care

Duke's seal of approval for uni's achievements

BY SIMON HUTCHINSON
editor@mk-news.co.uk

THE Duke of Edinburgh joined some of the country's leading experts at The Royal Academy of Engineering's Annual Soirée and Exhibition.

'Innovation in Action' was the theme of event which was hosted by Cranfield University and more than 200 guests joined Prince Philip, who is the Senior Fellow.

Cranfield created a display bringing together expertise from both its campus sites and all its schools to showcase the breadth and depth of its extensive experience. Highlights included a unique vertical wind turbine as well as the award-winning Grand Challenge Robot which is due to be sent to the front-line to help troops detect hostile forces.

The event drew attendance from a vast array of industry professionals and businessman from companies including Airbus, Brawn GP, Rolls-Royce and Williams FI.

Philip Greenish, the Royal Academy of Engineering chief executive, said: "The soirée looks to showcase the best of British engineering and the partnership between academia and industry and Cranfield University with its state-of-the-art facilities and world class research resource has been the perfect host."

Professor Sir John O'Reilly, Cranfield University vice-chancellor, said: "Cranfield was proud to host this year's RAE Soirée.

"It was an honour to open our facilities and showcase our world-leading research to our esteemed guests.

"The whole event was a thoroughly enjoyable and rewarding experience.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who have worked so hard to enable this event to be such a huge success."

GARDENLIFE

Help your crop come to fruition

WITH the long warm days upon us, your fruit, salad and vegetables will be growing fast.

In order to ensure a bumper crop these plants have three main requirements: water, food and a pest-free environment.

WATERING

WITH the droughts in recent years it important to use water wisely.

Where fruit is swelling on a plant it is essential that it does not get short of water. Conversely many root crops such as beetroot once established will grow well in comparatively dry conditions, this means that regular watering is not so essential. Re-cycling water from roofs using water butts is common, but there are several other ways to save water.

In order to reduce loss of water through evaporation, water during the evening and ensure water is applied directly to the ground rather than onto the leaves of the plant.

It is usually best to soak the soil once every few days as this ensures the water gets deep down into the soil where the roots can take it up. When planting out crops such as marrows and beans, add plenty of compost to the planting hole. This will act like a sponge and keep water available to the plant.

Application of a mulch (bark or farmyard manure) over the soil stops evaporation. Installing a simple watering system like a soaker hose not only makes watering less time consuming, but also more efficient.

Liz Thurley is a garden designer and the owner of Roman Way Garden Centre. If you have any questions get in touch at info.romanway@yahoo.co.uk or call 01908 542427

FEEDING

FISH blood and bone is a good fertiliser that can be used all around the garden, however different crops have different requirements, which can be met with specialist fertilisers.

Use Tomorite on a weekly basis for tomatoes, peppers and other similar fruiting crops.

A second application of bone meal can be applied to potatoes and other root crops.

PESTS AND DISEASES

THIS weather creates perfect conditions for pests and diseases to flourish.

Potato blight (which also affects tomatoes) is carried by the wind and thrives in warm moist conditions. It can be identified by brown patches occurring on the tips and edges of the leaves. Prevention includes ensuring potatoes are well earthed up and spraying of a fungicide like Dithane 945 or Bordeaux mixture. (Bordeaux mixture is considered acceptable for use in an organic system.) Powdery mildew is common on grapevines and squashes.

Ensure they are well watered, that there is good airflow around the leaves and apply yellow sulphur to help control the problem.

The most common pests include caterpillars on brassicas like cabbages and aphids on a wide range of fruit and vegetables. Some control can be achieved by physically removing (or squashing) the pests by hand or with a hose. Companion planting can also be effective and reducing the damage done by aphids; try planting a few rows of French marigolds on your plot or adding some chives.

There are also various chemical sprays (including organic ones) available from the garden centre, ask staff for specific advice on which is best for your crops and any pests you may encounter.

Remember that it is still not too late to be planting crops of courgettes, sowing dwarf and French beans, and sowing carrots for the autumn.

Persian cuisine or the cuisine of Iran is diverse, with each province featuring dishes and culinary traditions distinct to their regions.

Using skill, creativity, patience, care and compassion to develop truly special dishes is an art. The recipes that comprise Persian cuisine represent a celebration of several thousand years of it's culture and civilisation. Persian cuisine is exotic, yet simple similar to an Omar Khayyam's poem. It is healthy and colourful like Persian miniature painting. To achieve a delicious taste and a balanced diet, unique Persian spices such as Saffron, dried limes, cinnamon and Parsley are mixed delicately. The cuisine of Persia has influenced cooking all over the world particularly that of the Middle-East. Iranian food has a lot of similarity with the other cuisines of the Middle-East, but it is more sophisticated and imaginative, as colourful and complex as a Persian carpet. Whether it is for a meeting over a cup of our signature blend coffee, a lunch from our excellent buffet, a corporate party or anniversary celebrations, we are sure we can suit all your needs. We have live entertainment (belly dancing) most Thursdays and Saturdays.

FOODLIFE

Win a meal for two at...

• THE LIVING ROOM •

THE popular restaurant bar at The Hub launched its new summer menu yesterday with an exciting variety of dishes guaranteed to offer something for everyone.

The summer menu presents starters including baby girolle mushroom tart and the popular fruits de mer, moving on to main dishes such as lamb cutlets with Jersey Royal potatoes, fine beans, green and black olives with a basil butter sauce, and ostrich fillet served with sweet potato mash, a light red wine and beetroot jus garnished with prosciutto crisps.

The brand new addition to the home comforts section is goats' cheese and red pepper ravioli, and fish dishes include sea bass en papilotte with lobster bisque, lemon roasted fennel, mussels and clams, as well as crab linguini, and peppered line-caught yellow-fin tuna.

With all of those mouth-watering options it may be hard to leave space for dessert, but make sure you do because the potted poached pears and the creme brulee are not to be missed!

Another brand new dessert that's perfect for two is the sharing summer selection, which includes mini versions of some delicious classics how could you resist?

For those of you that fancy something lighter, the tasty new salt beef sandwich or oysters and chips are sure to fill the gap, as well as small plates including cherry vine tomato bruschetta, and prawn toast with sweet chilli sauce.

To book a table at The Living Room contact 01908 608643.

HOW TO ENTER

TO be in with a chance of winning one of FOUR complimentary meals for two including wine at The Living Room Milton Keynes all you have to do is log on to our website at www.mk-news.co.uk click on Living Room competition on the homepage and follow the instructions.

SIMON DARNELL

HARD TIMES

Patrick Wolf

IS there a door somewhere that leads backwards and forwards between now and any date between 1980 and 1989?

If so, where is it? I only ask because it seems like half the songs that are being released at the moment can trace their lineage directly back to that particular decade.

Take this song, for example. This one's come from the more indie-esque part of the musical arena, and Patrick Wolf sounds for all the world like a singer who was turning out low-charting but well-respected singles twenty-five years ago.

I'm thinking Furniture, China Crisis, those sort of singers. Maybe you can think of others, good for you if you can. However, eighties singing isn't the only thing Patrick Wolf does, even if he is good at it. Oh no, he also has decent singles to go with it too. This is as good a serving of indie-pop as you'll get at the moment, and it's even got (I think) a violin playing on it alongside the guitars and the electronics, which is almost showing off, but he gets away with it. Smashing stuff.

Anyway, that door. If it does exist, I recommend we board it up before Stock Aitken Waterman come through it. You know it's for the best.

DJ

Benassi vs Bowie

NORMALLY, you'd think that a match-up between Benny Benassi and David Bowie would be an easy win, and so it proves here.

The surprise is that it's not the fellow from Labyrinth who's victorious, it's the bloke who did Satisfaction.

While Bowie provides the vocals, there's so little left of his original song that to all intents and purposes this is a Benny Benassi song, and unfortunately not a brilliant one at that.

The original cynical attitude towards the DJ that Bowie originally came up with has been scrubbed away in favour of the more uplifting (when taken out of context) chorus, and then laid over the top of the sort of dance track that would've been labelled "electro" about eight years ago.

You can even hear the original backing track in the background during the vocal parts, which is a tactic I've never been keen on on most of these songs it sounds as though the person responsible has come up with a song and then recorded a sample off one of his dad's old records to finish things off.

"Disappointing" just about covers this one, I think.

ANIMALLIFE

LYNDALL PHELPS: THE PIGEON ARCHIVE

Milton Keynes Gallery
900 Midsummer Boulevard,
Central Milton Keynes
July 4 - August 30

ARTIST Lyndall Phelps' work The Pigeon Archive documents the re-enactment of pigeon manoeuvres undertaken during the First and Second World Wars, through photographs, film and other paraphernalia.

The photographs capture pigeons in flight wearing cardboard tube message carriers on their back and also descending through the air, bound and attached to parachutes.

In the Second World War it was recommended that every military aircraft leaving Britain carry two pigeons in case of emergency. If the plane was shot down, pigeons were dispatched carrying the survivor's coordinates for rescue.

Homing pigeons were also parachuted behind enemy lines to retrieve crucial information on enemy manoeuvres for the British and Allied Forces. Some carried miniature cameras to document military sites.

Ms Phelps, who is originally from Australia and now lives in Ely, Cambridgeshire, has also devised a miniature video camera holder for pigeons to wear, resulting in a 'pigeon's-eye-view' film over the Cambridgeshire countryside.

Free admission. Open Tues - Sat 10am - 5pm, Sun 11am - 5pm, Thurs open late until 8pm. For information call 01908 676 900 or visit www.mk-g.org.

On the Hunt for a brighter future

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE new boss at the city's John Lewis hopes to guide the store through the recession and make it bigger and better than ever.

Paul Hunt, who has worked for the chain for 31 years, joined the Milton Keynes department store as managing director on June 1.

One of his main objectives is to rearrange the space in the store to give more room on the shop floor.

He said: "Home retail has taken quite a knock during the recession which means we have had to tighten our belts but I think there is great opportunity coming forward.

"Milton Keynes is a very unusual place in many respects and I see this as an exciting opportunity. I have already been struck by the huge amount of interest local people have in the development of their city."

Mr Hunt started his career as a deputy accountant at John Lewis in Watford at 21-years-old and has worked in department stores across the South East and London.

He became managing director of the chain's Peter Jones store in Sloane Square, London five years ago where he oversaw a £1million re-fit and helped increase its annual turn-over by 30 per cent.

Water-way to celebrate VQ Day

MORE than 40 local leading business people set sail along The Grand Union Canal to mark Vocational Qualifications Day.

The event, last Wednesday, was organised by The Milton Keynes Academy to challenge people to look at things differently, including education.

Guests enjoyed a breakfast at The Black Horse at Great Linford and then jumped aboard a narrowboat to explore the waterways of Milton Keynes.

Academy Director of Business and Enterprise Sean Hickey said: "It was fantastic to have the support and encouragement of so many local business people. We know that employers value vocational qualifications and realise that for students there are many paths to success."

A special guest was Alex Glover from the independent education foundation Edge, which introduced national VQ Day and is the sponsor of The Milton Keynes Academy.

Mercedes dealership takes home awards for outstanding achievement

STAFF at Mercedes Benz have scooped two top awards.

Warren Brearley, Managing Director and Anthony Murphy Sales Manager have both been recognised for outstanding achievement in the Sytner Group annual awards for 2008 performance.

Sytner Group is the largest prestige retail motor group in the UK, with 130 dealerships nationwide; there are 14 Mercedes-Benz retailers in the group alone.

Anthony was awarded the top Sales Manager of the year award in recognition of his performance and team management.

Warren picked up a new award, from a short list of six dealerships, for Local Community and Environment.

Warren is keen to stress that the success in this new award belongs to the team at Mercedes-Benz in Milton Keynes.

Warren said: "The team in MIlton Keynes agree to every activity and take an active part in making our fund raising work.

"Through their energy and commitment we have supported a wide range of charities and activities including, Willen Hospice, MK Snap, Dragon Boat Race, Big Big Charity Bash, Coffee mornings, Jeans for Genes Day, Comic Relief, all generating funds and great fun for the team working together.

"We also have a continual programme to reduce our carbon footprint in every part of the business."

`MILTON KEYNES STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Milton Keynes Council Standards Committee held a Hearing on 5th June 2009 to consider the outcome of an investigation into complaints (SC/08/01 and SC/08/03) that Councillor Anita Rose had failed to observe the Members' Code of Conduct of Great Linford Parish Council.

The allegation before the Hearing was that Councillor Rose had:

(i) Failed to treat others with respect;
(ii) Bullied other persons; and
(iii) Conducted herself in a manner which may be reasonably considered as bringing her office into disrepute

The Hearing Sub-Committee determined that:

(1) During a training event attended by a large number of local Councillors and officers, Cllr Rose used offensive language, directed at specific individuals, loudly on several occasions.
(2) Cllr Rose's conduct at that event caused embarrassment and distress for individuals involved and Great Linford Parish Council
(3) Cllr Rose's conduct at that event was aggressive, intimidated individuals causing upset and distress to those affected.
(4) Telephone calls made by Cllr Rose had been abusive to Cllrs and officers of GLPC.
(5) Cllr Rose had displayed a pattern of behaviour over a period of time that appeared to the Hearing to be intentionally designed to be a form of intimidation.

In her conduct at the training event of 20th June 2008, Cllr Rose demonstrated a lack of respect to others through her actions to other councillors, her activities within the event in front of members and officers of other councils and, in particular, the clerk to the Council in breach of Paragraph 3(1) of the Code. The Hearing found that these actions amounted to an intended act of bullying in breach of Paragraph 3(2)(b) of the Code.

The Hearing also considered the events of 20th June 2008 to be the culmination of a series of inappropriate communications made by Cllr Rose to the clerk and councillors

Cllr Rose was suspended as a Councillor of Great Linford Parish Council for a period of six months, reduced to four months if during that period Cllr Rose sends a letter of apology to Great Linford Parish Council and the Clerk to the Council and undertakes such training as the Monitoring Officer directs.

Cllr Rose has the right to apply to the president of the Adjudication Panel for England for permission to appeal the Standards Committee's finding.

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

MILTON KEYNES STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Milton Keynes Council Standards Committee held a Hearing on 27th May 2009 to consider the outcome of an investigation into a complaint (SC/08/02) that Councillor Janis Green and Councillor Patrick McQuillan had failed to observe the Members' Code of Conduct of Wolverton and Greenleys Town Council.

The allegation before the Hearing was that Councillor Green and Councillor McQuillan had:

(i) failed to declare a personal interest;
(ii) failed to declare a prejudicial interest; and
(iii) failed to withdraw from a meeting room where a discussion on a matter in which they had such an interest was taking place

The Hearing Sub-Committee found the following as relevant facts:

(1) Councillor Janis Green is the mother of the former Clerk to the Town Council.
(2) Councillor Patrick McQuillan is the husband of the former Clerk to the Town Council
(3) The Agenda for the meeting of the Personnel Committee of Wolverton & Greenleys Town Council on 28th May 2008 included an Item on the 'Staff Handbook' (Item 11) and 'Office Staff' (Item 12), both appearing on the agenda following item 10 (to exclude the press and public).
(4) No papers relating to these items were distributed to Members beforehand.
(5) Solicitors engaged by the Town Council had advised the Council to review the Staff Handbook in the light of issues raised by the former Clerk's Employment Tribunal case against the Town Council, which was ongoing at that time.
(6) There was a clear understanding held by Members of the Council that Item 11 (and possibly 12) required a discussion on matters involving the previous Clerk to the Council.

The Hearing Sub-Committee determined that

- Cllr Green failed to declare a personal or a prejudicial interest at any time in breach of paragraphs 8 and 9 of the Code of Conduct. Cllr Green also breached paragraph 12(1)(a) of the Code in that she failed to withdraw from the meeting when it considered business of the authority in which she had a prejudicial Interest.
- Cllr McQuillan did declare a personal and prejudicial interest at the meeting, and so did not breach paragraphs 8 and 9 of the Code, but did then fail to withdraw from the meeting when it considered business of the authority in which he had a prejudicial Interest in breach of paragraph 12(1)(a) of the Code of Conduct .
- Cllr Green was censured for her actions. No further action was taken in respect of Cllr McQuillan in reflection of his lesser breach of the Code. The Hearing noted that both councillors would have been required to undertake appropriate training as part of a sanction had not targeted training already been provided.

The Hearing also wished it noted that it felt that the level of meeting management and advice provided by the Town Council in this instance fell well below a standard one would expect. The Town Council should try in future to publish agenda which are clear and descriptive and provide opportunities for councillors to obtain advice and time in which to consider their interests

Councillor McQuillan and Councillor Green have the right to apply to the president of the Adjudication Panel for England for permission to appeal the Standards Committee's finding.

HUGE SAVINGS
Against main dealer prices
Quality service at affordable prices...

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service. Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill. We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Servicing to above main dealer standards. Audi trained technicians.

Peace breaks out on the grid as President Max agrees to stand down

FORMULA ONE

THE breakaway row which threatened to end Formula One as we know it appears to have ended.

Eight teams were on the verge of quitting to form their own racing championship after disputing proposed cost cutting.

The sport's governing body, FIA, want teams to operate under a voluntary £40million budget.

It was at the British Grand Prix last month that the eight teams – among them Milton Keynes-based Red Bull Racing, which claimed a one-two finish at Silverstone. Ferrari, Brawn GP and Toro Rosso, stated their intent to leave F1, despite all signing a conditional entry to the 2010 campaign.

It meant a number of crisis talks were held and last week after a meeting of the World Motor Sport Council it was announced that FIA president Max Mosley will step down from his position and all teams agreed to stay in Formula One next season.

A statement from FIA read: 'There will be no alternative series or championship and the rules for 2010 onwards will be the 2009 regulations as well as further regulations agreed prior to 29 April 2009.

"As part of this agreement, the teams will, within two years, reduce the costs of competing in the championship to the level of the early 1990s. The manufacturer teams have agreed to assist the new entries for 2010 by providing technical assistance.

'The manufacturer teams have further agreed to the permanent and continuing role of the FIA as the sport's governing body. They have also committed to the commercial arrangements for the FIA Formula One World Championship until 2012 and have agreed to renegotiate and extend this contract before the end of that period.

'In view of this new agreement and with the prospect of a stable future for Formula One, FIA President Max Mosley has confirmed his decision not to stand for re-election in October this year.'

Red Bull Racing, Ferrari, McLaren, BMW Sauber, Reault, Toyota, Toro Rosso, Williams, Force India, Brawn GP, Campos Meta Team, Manor Grand Prix and Team US are all set to take part in the 2010 F1 championship.

Joining Dons fires new boy's ambition

FOOTBALL

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK DONS players returned for pre-season training yesterday and for some it was a chance to meet new faces.

Newly signed trio David McCracken, Jabo Ibehre and Dan Woodards were among the players being put through their paces at Woughton on the Green.

The team were split into groups of four as they ran round the training ground in the blistering midday heat.

Defender McCracken joined Ibehre, Daniel Powell and a trialist on the run and admitted he was glad to be back at work.

Speaking to MK NEWS McCracken, who signed from Wycombe Wanderers last week, said: "It's always good to get back, for myself it's good to get in to see all the boys. I'm sure everyone's eager to get started again."

The players are set to head out to Portugal tomorrow for more pre-season training and for the newer members of the squad it is chance to become acquainted with their colleagues.

McCracken added: "It's always good in pre-season to get a trip away. You get to know different players because the quicker the new players bed in the better it is for the team.

"Coming into a new team you want to become a regular. I know there's a few good players here so it's going to be hard but it's a challenge I'm looking forward to. This is a new challenge for me. I needed something slightly different."

It was seven weeks ago when the Dons suffered heartache in the play-off semi-final but there was no trace of any bad memories as the players were in good spirits.

McCracken, 27, is an ambitious player and says the Dons must target the play-offs at the very least.

He said: "Failing to get promotion was a big disappointment but everyone has seen how well the club did throughout the season and we can't look any lower than the play-offs or automatic position.

"It's a club that's going forward. I want to be a part of that, there's a lot of ambition here. I'm an ambitious person, and I want to part of this."

■ Dons yesterday signed Wolves midfielder Stephen Gleeson for an undisclosed fee. Gleeson, who spent a month on loan last season, agreed a three year deal.

HERE WE GO AGAIN: Dons players on their first day back in training

Hussein keeps Bradwell on top

LOCAL CRICKET

Morrant Four Counties Division One

NEW BRADWELL strengthened their grip on top spot with victory over second placed Eaton Bray.

It was Asim Hussein's unbeaten 82, supported by Temoor Alam's 42, that guided Bradwell to an eight wicket win.

Bray reached 162 as Naseem Malim (3-38) and Zaheer Khan (3-42) took apart their innings, before New Bradwell lost just two wickets on their way to the win.

MK City took maximum points from their two wicket win against North Crawley.

Crawley were first to bat and posted 157-8, in reply City stumbled to 159-8 with Chris Timms (52) top scoring.

Elstow paid the price for a poor total as they lost by 94 runs to Aspley Guise.

Guise set 183 all out as the target, and with Matt Funge in fine form with the bat it was more than enough.

Elstow struggled through out and were dismissed for 89.

Old Bradwell are continuing to flirt with the wrong end of the table following a 49 run defeat at the hands of Cublington.

Bradwell were unable to match Cublington's 148 as Rob Sheary (4-28) helped bowl them out for 99.

But it is Newport Pagnell who remain rock bottom as they still search for their first win. Winslow Town set a strong total of 228-8 for Pagnell (132-8) to beat.

Pagnell were in a determined mood but they were unable to grab a win, instead they settled for the draw.

Division Two

Milton Keynes lost to Studham by five wickets.

MK, who are third from bottom, thought they had done enough with the bat as they registered 215 all out.

However, Studham showed fine form with the bat as Duncan Wingfield (69) and Chris Thorne (68no) guided them to the win.

Shenley Church End were beaten by Aston Clinton by seven wickets.

Clinton's bowlers were on the top of their game as Shenley were bowled out for 140.

Devil, who claimed 3-30, was then key to Clinton's innings as his unbeaten 32 helped them to 144-3.

Olney Town earned an eight wicket win at Stewkley to stay fourth.

Stewkley's dismal 59 all out was matched by Olney, who lost two wickets on their way to 60.

The match between Caddington and Biddenham was abandoned.

Cherwell League – Division One

Bletchley Town's hopes of victory at Banbury Town were scuppered by the rain.

A delay of 40 minutes saw Banbury's overs reduced and the sides had to settle for a draw.

Things started badly for Bletchley when Alex Kilbey went for a golden duck in the second over, but that brought Kenroy Hollis, who went on to score 75, to the crease and he went on to share a second wicket stand with Graham Simpson of 108.

Town were set for a good total, only to suffer a collapse in the order going from 143-3 to 151-7. Stuart Cooper came in late with a quick 32no to steer the side to 196-6.

Banbury suffered a miserable start wobbling at 30-4, yet the weather interrupted play and the reduced time meant Bletchley had 15 overs to dismiss their hosts.

Banbury just managed to hang on at 104-9.

Northants Premier League

Stony Stratford lost to Rushden Town by 96 runs despite an impressive bowling display from Richard Lines.

Rushden made 203 at the end of 54.2 overs, Lines claiming 6-65.

But Stony's batting never looked like troubling Rushden with only four players reaching double figures. Skipper Dion Ebrahim top scored with 23 as Stony reached 107. They are now tenth in the table.

Hopley has promotion in his sights

RUGBY

A NORTHAMPTON Saints player will continue his work as part of the coaching staff at Milton Keynes Rugby Union Club as they gun for promotion.

Mark Hopley is about to embark on his third season as forwards and defence coach at the club.

The Saints flanker told MK NEWS he takes his role 'very seriously' despite missing most of their games due to his matches in the Guinness Premiership.

Only a limited number of Saints' fixtures do not fall on Saturdays so Hopley has to rely on feedback from other coaches and spectators.

But his main impact happens on the training pitch on Tuesday and Thursdays.

Speaking exclusively to this paper, he said: "Tuesdays are hard work for me because we do contact training in Northampton, so sometimes I'm not in a great state but I grab some food, jump in the car and do a coaching session in Milton Keynes.

"It's all worth it. Since I arrived there has been a massive change, the way they approach games has improved."

Hopley, 25, says his main aim is to improve the players' understanding of the game, something that was needed last season when the Experimental Law Variations (ELVS) were brought into place.

This year everyone at the club is targeting promotion from Southern Counties North in time for their move to their new £2million facility at Emerson Valley.

"Promotion is the aim. I was disappointed we didn't do it last year but the guys are improving all the time and we have a good chance," said Hopley.

Now a level two coach, Hopley recognises he has to tread carefully to get the best out of amateur players.

Hopley added: "I'm fortunate to get paid to do something I love. I have to make sure I work the players hard and to make sure they enjoy the game. I still want players to have smiles on their faces."

As part of the newly-appointed coaching team for the 2009/10 season Hopley will work alongside Dave Manders, a speciallist in scummaging and player development, who is currently a full-time coach for St Paul's School and Jack Wiggins, a qualified fitness instructor and sports teacger who has recently been playing in National League two with Southend. Wiggins will be MKRUFC's fitness, conditioning and backs coach.

Di Matteo quits the Dons

EXCLUSIVE
BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

PAUL Ince is in the frame for a dramatic return to MK Dons after manager Roberto Di Matteo quit to take over at West Bromwich Albion.

Yesterday Di Matteo made a shock move to the Championship side, who have been without a manager since Tony Mowbray switched to Celtic.

It now means the Dons are looking for their sixth manager since the club formed five years ago.

MK NEWS understands chairman Pete Winkelman acted quickly to draw up a short-list, and was in contact with Ince's agent within hours of reaching a compensation deal with the Baggies.

A return by Ince would delight fans as he is the only manager to have brought silverware to the club.

The 41-year-old left the Dons in June 2008 for a chance in the Premier League with Blackburn Rovers, but he was fired just six months later.

Speaking exclusively to MK NEWS Ince says another spell at stadiummk is a possibility.

He said: "I would never rule out a move going back to Milton Keynes. The time I had was fantastic and we enjoyed great success.

"I have fond memories of the place, I have a great rapport with the chairman and the fans."

Other names for the Dons hot-seat at this stage include ex-Watford boss Aidy Boothroyd, Steve Coppell, Gus Poyet, Tony Adams and Ince's old assistant Ray Mathias.

Mathias would be a popular appointment as his experience in the lower leagues was key to his partnership with Ince in saving Macclesfield from relegation, and securing promotion with the Dons.

Di Matteo's departure happened almost overnight as West Brom first made contact with the Dons on Monday, and once Tranmere's Alan Irvine ruled himself out, the Dons boss emerged as the favourite.

Winkelman knew he had a fight on his hands to keep hold of the 39-year-old Italian. This paper understands that Di Matteo was interested in the Watford job before the position was filled by Malky Mackay two weeks ago.

Despite signing a new contract last season to stay at the club until June 2011, the lure of Championship football, with a side who are hoping to bounce straight back to the Premier League, was too hard for Di Matteo to resist.

Last season was Di Matteo's rookie year in management and it was an impressive debut campaign as he led a newly promoted Dons side to the play-off semi-finals where they were beaten by Scunthorpe.

Di Matteo was at the helm for 52 matches, he won 27, lost 14 and drew 11.

Winkelman will hope to make a swift appointment as the players head out to Portugal on Thursday for ten days, and their first pre-season game is scheduled for July, 18.

Your Frequently Asked Questions

Q How is the food and garden waste being composted?

A For many years we've been asking households not to add food or meat waste to their garden waste or home compost bins. But now we are asking you do the exact opposite - Meat, bones, cooked and raw food and garden waste all in one bin.

The reasons are legal, financial and technical; the material from the garden waste collection scheme was composted locally 'on-farm', and the resulting compost ploughed into fields. Legislation controlling the spread of animal diseases such as foot and mouth and blue tongue, means that waste containing meat cannot be composted open-air on farms.

In order to compost the waste from the new scheme we are sending it to an enclosed composting facility; where the material is finely shredded and fed into heated tunnels. Fresh air is then pumped through the waste to speed up the composting process and heat it to 60°C. This process composts the meat and neutralises harmful bacteria, making it safe to use as agricultural fertiliser.

Q Will compost from the scheme be available to householders?

A No, householders cannot buy or collect the composted waste. The compost produced is very rough and is only fit for use as an agricultural grade fertiliser. Unlike compost from garden centres which is sieved and screened.

Q Will my bin and caddy smell?

A Your bin should not smell as it will be emptied every week. Also the addition of garden waste helps to absorb moisture from wet foods and keep odours down; One of the key reason we chose a mixed 'food and garden' collection over 'food only' collections used by some other councils.

To help keep your bin clean we recommend you use newspaper to 'wrap your scraps', or as a liner in your kitchen caddy. This will help to prevent food sticking to the bin and absorb any excess liquids. Or compostable brown paper liners for all sizes of bin are available to buy in local supermarkets and garden centres. We also say to wash your caddy regularly with warm soapy water and occasionally sluice out your large bin with your washing up water, or garden hose.

To find out where to purchase paper liner visit,

Q Can I use plastic bags, biodegradable liners and corn starch bags in my caddy?

A No, please do not add these types of liners to your bin. They will not break down quickly enough at the composting facility. The term 'bio-degradable' means that over time (anywhere from one month to a decade) the plastic will fragment but not break down; unlike newspaper or paper liners which are fully composted in a short time.

Q Why are we making changes to your refuse and recycling service?

A The simple answer is that it's cheaper to recycle and do the environmentally correct thing with your rubbish than it is to bury it in a landfill site.

The cost of burying waste increases sharply year-on-year; each household throws away about a tonne per year, which will soon cost as much as £100 per household to dispose of. In addition, councils can be fined for burying food, garden waste, paper and wood, all of which break-down (bio-degrade) in landfill sites to form natural Methane, a powerful green-house gas responsible for global warming.

On the positive side - councils all over the country are hoping to build facilities which use methane from food and garden waste collection schemes to produce renewable energy for the grid. The resulting compost also provides natural fertiliser for agriculture, making the UK's food production cheaper and more energy efficient.

Q I think the bin is too big or too small for my needs

A Please try the bin we supply first and if you still feel there is a problem we will exchange it for a smaller 23 litre bin, or provide you with a larger bin in September.

Please bear in mind that your bin will be collected every week, instead of once a fortnight, so you may not need a larger bin. Contact us using the web form at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwastecontact or phone the environmental contact centre, details on the back of this article.

Q I live in a terraced property or house without rear access

A If you feel a wheeled bin will present you with problems and would like to consider alternative arrangements, contact us using the web form at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/foodwastecontact or phone the environmental contact centre, details listed on the back of this article.

Q Will I get my own bin returned on collection day?

A Every effort will be made to return the same bin to the boundary of your property. Please feel free to personalise your bin with your house number to assist the crews.

How do I use my caddy and bin?

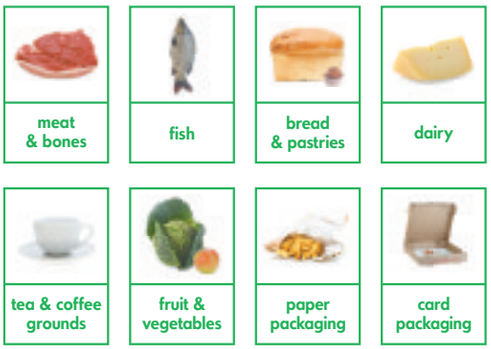
How to Use Your Kitchen Caddy

Use your caddy in the kitchen to collect your food waste. You can recycle any raw or cooked food, and also food packaging made from paper and un-waxed cardboard . Please do not add any other types of packaging or food containers and do not use plastic bags to line the caddy

If you would like to line your caddy to keep it clean you can use newspaper, kitchen roll or paper bin liners – see our website for details of stockists. Paper bin liners have been specially developed to break down in the composting process and are the only ones we will collect.

When your caddy is full, empty it into your green wheeled bin along with your garden waste.

Yes please – please put these materials into your caddy:



No thanks – please do not put any of these materials in your caddy:

- Packaging of any sort, apart from paper and un-waxed cardboard
- Plastic bags
- Oil or liquid fat
- Liquids other than custard, gravy or sauces
